

ACM Bulletin Service
Today's Topic: An Interview with Dame Wendy Hall
February 3, 2009

---

An interview with ACM President Dame Wendy Hall in MP3 format is available to listen to online at http://www.stephenibaraki.com/audio/Wendy\_Hall.mp3.

Conducted by Stephen Ibaraki as part of his interview series for CIPS Connections, the 30-minute segment includes Dame Hall's views on key issues as they relate to ACM and the entire computing profession.

Included are her thoughts on: the three top challenges facing our field today; the need for professionalism in IT; the burgeoning markets for technology in China and India; the future for business and IT professionals; personal career management, among many other points.

Selected excerpts from the interview, as well as additional background, are available at: <http://www.acm.org/membership/hallinterview>.

---

The ACM Bulletin Service provides ACM members with email notification of important association news and activities.

Should you wish to be excluded from future issues of the acm-bulletin, please enter your email address sibaraki@CIPS.CA at http://optout.acm.org/listserv\_index.cfm?ln=acm-bulletin and we'll remove you.

Association for Computing Machinery
Advancing Computing as a Science and Profession

(c) 2009 ACM, Inc. All rights reserved.