CIPS Year in Review

Dear CIPS Members,

This has been an exciting year for CIPS, as we have been re-energized due to the undertaking of strong new steps, which will ultimately make CIPS a more focused and polished association than ever before.

CIPS' new globally aligned designation, the ITCP (Information Technology Certified Professional), was introduced this year. As a result eligible CIPS I.S.P. holders in good standing became ITCP holders and are now recognized globally under the IP3 (International Professional Practice Partnership) umbrella, by way of IP3's international post-nominal, the "IP3P", which ITCP holders can now use. Most ITCP holders should have received their ITCP certificates by now, or will be receiving them soon, as they are being distributed through a new process, by way of CIPS Provinces themselves. For prospective ITCP holders, applications are also now available to the public, thanks to the many hours spent on producing the criteria and application routes for the ITCP (www.cips.ca/itcp).

I.S.P./ITCP Re-certification Due Dec 31st

Attention CIPS I.S.P. and/or ITCP holders,

Re-certification forms for 2009 must be received no later than Thursday December 31st, 2009 in order to maintain your I.S.P. and/or ITCP status. If you have not already submitted your re-certification form please do so asap.

Compliance with the re-certification requirements is a mandatory part of maintaining the I.S.P. and ITCP.

The re-certification form and guidelines are available at: www.cips.ca/recertification

You can also access the re-certification form directly by clicking here

Please contact the CIPS National office at certification@cips.ca if you have any further questions.

Kind regards,

CIPS National Office

New CIPS Member Benefit: Computer Security

CIPS is excited to announce its new marketing partnership with Trend Micro, a global leader in Internet content security.

Starting in February, all new and renewing CIPS members will receive a one-year free subscription to Trend Micro Worry-Free Business Security Services.

Note: Renewing CIPS members will receive this benefit based on their "renewal date", which falls in line with the expiry date on your membership card. This benefit is based on renewal dates from Feb 28th 2010 to Jan 31st 2011.

This award-winning service protects over 600,000 small businesses globally. With a value of $150, Trend Micro Worry-Free Business Services can be used by CIPS members to protect up to 5 computers from viruses, hackers, spam, spyware, phishing and data theft.

Renew your membership, and get protected!

Order a CIPS Name Badge

Want to order a new CIPS Name badge?

Visit: <http://www.cips.ca/CIPSBadge>

Note: New CIPS certified members (I.S.P./ITCP) will receive their first badge at no cost as part of the application process. This badge will be sent to you directly and this order form should not be used.

Job: CIPS Advocacy Rep

CIPS is looking to hire a CIPS member as a "CIPS Advocacy Rep" that will expand the reach of CIPS' communication, encourage discussions amongst members, and stimulate membership.

ITCP/IP3P Designation Use

The IP3 has released its style guide and announced the new use of the international "IP3P" designation in conjunction with CIPS' ITCP.

CIPS ITCP holders who opted to receive and use the internationally aligned IP3P designation can demonstrate use in the following way:

John Smith, ITCP/IP3P

I.S.P. and ITCP holders should list it as:

John Smith, I.S.P., ITCP/IP3P

When demonstrating both the English and French Acronyms:

John Smith, I.S.P./EATI, ITCP/PATI/IP3P

or

John Smith, EATI/I.S.P, PATI/ITCP/IP3P
