Podcast on Social Media, Communities and Influencers...

posted in Events, Interviews & Speeches, Social Media |

Stephen Ibaraki of the Canadian Information Processing Society recently asked me to participate in a podcast after seeing a speech I gave on the business implications of social media. Stephen's awfully generous to me to provide the opportunity. I don't really like to go back and listen to these after I've done them, but I thought I'd share the link here...it's a bit long, but Stephen has index of topics to give some idea of the flow. I thought someone here might give it a listen, I'd love to hear your thoughts.
